REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Greenfield School Board:

It has been the wise policy of the school board to care for needs for improvement of the buildings and equipment during the period of general increased expenditure, at a figure far below average costs for the state. This same policy has been extended to cover all the items of the budget and we can report that Greenfield is the 84th school district out of 243 for the last fiscal year, as against the 119th out of 252 in the year closing in June, 1924.

The reading program has been rapidly expanded and for the past two years the Board has seen fit to provide a rather unusual type of Junior High School material which has not failed to be extremely helpful to children entering secondary institutions. Much favorable comment has been received from the secondary schools concerning the preparation of the pupils, and this should be a matter of pride to the parents.

The superintendent is recommending that the Board continue its policy of caring for the immediate physical needs of the children as to suitable desks and chairs, and that at least for the ensuing year, expenditure for all items be pared to the estimated figure at which state aid can be assumed to be operative.

There is need for an expanded program of physical education and the needs of the children within the Junior High School grades for the development of manual skill, can easily be made without the installation of expensive or dangerous equipment. The majority of children will learn more by constructing and using model articles, by planning for and arranging devices or agents for beautifying the school room and grounds, than from formal instruction in manual training. We therefore suggest that the Board seriously consider for the ensuing year a definite program of motivated education, particularly in the Junior High School grades, but to include at least the children in the grammar school room.

This is on the assumption that the services of some male teacher are secured for the ensuing fiscal year. There is no lack of evidence that children of this period, boys in particular, develop better where at least a part of the staff is masculine in thought and at least somewhat skilled in the devices and plans for physical education and manual guidance.

Greenfield is a most pleasant town in which to work with children because of the support which is received. In behalf of the children, the superintendent extends to the school board and tax payers, hearty thanks for maintaining a school system in which the parents, with reason, take pride.

(Signed)
